

MILLIKEN & COMPANY

Choosing the Appropriate ARIBA Account Type

Milliken[™]

CHOOSING THE APPROPRIATE ARIBA ACCOUNT TYPE

All Milliken suppliers have the ability, at a minimum, to access a free Standard account with SAP Ariba to transact electronically with Milliken.

Standard Account (no fees)

The SAP Ariba Standard account is free, email-driven and designed for low-volume suppliers. Capabilities include viewing PO and invoices within the account along with general document search functions.

Enterprise Account (fees apply)

The SAP Ariba Enterprise account incurs fees which are calculated and billed by SAP Ariba (not by Milliken) and are based on the volume of transactions and number of documents. SAP ARIBA Enterprise account is designed for higher-volume suppliers that prefer full online dashboard and end user capabilities.

Note: SAP ARIBA use with Milliken is optional. If a vendor chooses to have an optional SAP Ariba account, it is the vendor's responsibility to select the account type that best aligns with their business requirements and anticipated transaction volume.

Do you require more information?

- What is the difference between Standard and Enterprise Accounts?
- What are the Enterprise Account Levels and Advantages of Subscription Fees?
- Can I get more information on the comparison between SAP ARIBA Standard and Enterprise Accounts?
- Where can I access support assistance and information with creating my SAP ARIBA account?
- Do I need an ARIBA account to receive purchase orders from Milliken? – No, ARIBA is optional for Milliken Vendors.
- Do I need an ARIBA account to invoice with Milliken? – No, reference the PO instructions or refer to the Vendor Reference Tool section on the Milliken Supplier Resource page
- Can I change my mind after I provide an SAP ARIBA account to Milliken? – Yes, but note that if you have Enterprise Account, you may lose visibility to information such as purchase order history.